It left Philadelphia at 11:50 Wednesday left Philadelphia at 11.30 wednesuay night, and was due at Harrisburg at 1:30 a.m. and at Pittsburg at 8 a.m.

Caused by Smaller Wreck.

The wreck was caused by a smaller wreck to the freight train, which was eastbound. Passing the plant of the Paxtang Electric company, near Cedar street, an air hose burst and several cars in the middle of the train buckled up and fell across the passenger tracks

Almost at the same time the express plunged into the wrecked freigh cars. The boiler of the passenger loco-motive blew up, and the concussion caused the immediate explosion of the Cars Were Crushed.

The force of the collision crushed all the passenger cars which piled up in a huge mass with those of the freight. Instantly the two trains were masses of flames. With the crash the passengers, all of whom were asleep in the berths, were hurled in all directions.

Another severe showstorm. From 4 p. m. to 8 p. m. about eight inches of snow fell beating all previous records here for so short a period of time. There is no wind and the weather is not especially cold. Losses among shorn sheep and young lambs cannot be prevented, however. Many streams were already out of their banks, and it is feared the present storm, if followed by a quick thaw, will result experienced by the transportation line is soft track and muck holes in the wagon roads.
